NOTABLE GAINS NO LICENSE FORCES

In the Annual Battle Against the Saloon in the Little Town Elections

10 SWING FROM WET TO DRY, THREE DRY TO WET

The Towns Which Went From License to No-License Have Many Industrial Workers, While the Three Which Swung From "Dry" to the "Wet" Column Have No Industries—The Standing of the Coming Year Will be: License 70, No-License 98—The Campaign in Some Towns Was Vigorous and There Was General Interest in the Outcome.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 1.—Some notable gains were made by the no-license forces in the little town elections in Connecticut today in the annual battle against the saloon. Sixty-two towns had the question of licensing saloons on their ballots out of the 160 which held electors' meetings. Ten towns which have been "wet" the past year swung into the "dry" column, while only three went from no-license to license. On the part of the temperance forces the campaign in some of the towns was vigorous and there was general interest in the outcome.

The towns which went from "wet" to "dry" were Griswold, Milford, Plainville, New Milford, Haddam, Manchester, Ellington, Windsor, Stratford and Suffield. Those which went from no-license to license were Canaan, Harwinton and Simsbury. On the population basis, the changes were of importance, as Milford, Stratford, Plainville and Manchester have many industrial workers, while the three towns which broke away from the no-license column have no industries. Windsor voted no-license for the first time in its history, while Suffield has saloons for the first time on a stretch and has voted no-license but twice in 150 years.

The standing of the towns on this, the coming year, will be: License 70, no-license 98, a net gain of seven as compared with the year just ending.

Vote on License.
The towns voted on the license question as follows:

N. Y. Mayorality a Night Air Raid Made on London

4-Cornered Contest Strongest Yet Attempted by THE GERMAN

4 GROUPS OF AIRPLANES

Numerous Bombs Were Dropped on the Southwestern District of London, Which is Thickly Populated.

London, Oct. 1.—The strongest air attack yet attempted on London and the coast towns by the Germans was carried out tonight by four groups of hostile airplanes. Some of the machines got through to London and bombed the southwestern district. A terrific barrage was sent up from the defense guns and the roar of battle lasted intermittently for two and a half hours.

Bombarded Coast Towns.
The Germans bombed coast towns as they passed over and proceeded towards London. Two of the groups landed in the southwestern district and bombed the homes of the upper and middle classes. The fire from the defending guns was longer and louder than ever before. A rain of shrapnel fell in all sections of the town, and the streets were virtually deserted save for a few police.

Perfect for Air Operation.
The weather was perfect for air operations, as there was a bright full moon with no clouds or wind. The Germans waited for signals. Soon after seven o'clock motors of the volunteer corps started in the town, while the sirens and displaying an illuminated "Take Cover." The telephone exchanges notified their subscribers that they were in a state of emergency and to inform the populace of the pending air raid.

BRITISH EXERCISING STRICT CENSORSHIP

No News Allowed to Filter to Indicate What Field Marshal Haig Has in View

HEAVY BOMBARDMENTS ARE TAKING PLACE

Along Both Sides of the Meuse River in the Verdun Sector the French and Germans are Engaged in a Terrific Duel—Infantry Attacks Launched by the Germans Have Been Put Down—In the Austro-Italian Zone the Austrians Have Failed in Counter-Attacks Against the Newly Won Positions of the Italians—In the Riga Region the Russians Have Forced the Germans to Give Ground.

The almost complete silence that has surrounded the operations of the British armies in France and Belgium since the beginning of the month has been permitted to pass through the censorship which would indicate what Field Marshal Haig has in immediate view.

Along the coast in Belgium and around Ypres extremely heavy reciprocal bombardments are taking place. Nothing has been reported in the British or German communications to show that the troops of either side have left their trenches—ever for forays.

Along both sides of the Meuse river in the Verdun sector the French and the Germans are engaged in a terrific duel. Twice the Germans launched infantry attacks in an effort to capture positions, but both have been stopped short by the French fire.

While in England the demands of the people for reprisals against the Germans for air attacks on open towns continue to grow in volume, the French fliers have roamed themselves for a raid on Bar-le-Duc by heavily bombing the German town of Stenay from the air. In all a half ton of explosives was dropped. Both the British and the French fliers are keeping up their excursions over German positions in Belgium and in northern France, blowing up railroad stations, military works, the German submarine base at Zeebrugge and the airbase at St. Denis-Western again have come in for bombing. Daily raids are being made in the night and the number of casualties on all sides are heavy.

The Austro-Italian theatre is again the scene of a series of heavy counter-attacks against the newly won positions of the French. The Italian attacks have been put down. The Austrians have failed in counter-attacks against the newly won positions of the Italians. In the Riga region the Russians have forced the Germans to give ground.

Subscriptions to the new Liberty loan opened Monday throughout the United States and reports from all districts show that large purchases are being made.
